

I completely oppose NAB 04-160. I use satellite radio when I travel. I pay for this service b/c it is fantastic and the quality is the best. I enjoy using the traffic and weather feature a great deal. I can unequivocally say that there is no other source that provides this quality of information in a readily available format like XM.

The NAB has no right to restrict XM or Sirius from broadcasting this type of information now or in the future. It is wrong and advocated by bureaucrats who are in the back pocket of traditional radio.

Any objective person would see this as completely ok if they understood the service and the technology.

Sincerely,
Lars D. Larsen
